

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are blemishes in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." Mrs. J. H. Jones, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

CROWD

Was Judge of the Debate.

Johnson and Hopkins Came Together.

Both Fired Questions Like Gatling Guns.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 29.—Probably the most notable, and certainly the most unique feature of the present political campaign in Cuyahoga county, was the consummation, last night, of the widely discussed debate between Mayor Johnson and W. R. Hopkins. The Grays' armory, scene of many a warm political gathering, was packed to its utmost capacity, and seldom has the great auditorium rung with more vociferous applause. At the outset both of the contestants were heartily cheered, the Mayor having just a shade the best of the vocal appreciation. Before the end of the meeting, however, the applause for Hopkins had diminished almost to the vanishing point, while Mr. Johnson was so loudly cheered that he frequently was forced to plead for silence in order that he might be heard.

The discussion was a debate only by courtesy. It was merely a series of questions and answers, and each contestant seemed desirous of putting the larger number of interrogations. There were no judges, and the debate was not formally decided to either of the speakers. The result was therefore, in a measure, unsatisfactory, although certain developments of interest to the crowd frequently enlivened the proceedings. Mr. Hopkins, in reply to pointed questions from the Mayor, took a positive stand in favor of the so-called "curative act" or Cincinnati steel. He also declared that he believed that the steam railroads, street railroads, and other public service corporations are at present being taxed upon a just basis, and that an increase in their taxes would work an injustice to these corporations. He also said that the Mayor's scheme to regulate and equalize taxation was bad.

The debate was opened by Mr. Hopkins, he being introduced by Judge E. J. Blandin, chairman.

"I understand," said he, "that you define just taxation as equal and uniform taxation. Mr. Mayor, this presupposes that all property should be listed at the same percentage of valuation. All property lower than the average should be raised, and all property higher should be lowered. Is that correct?"

"Substantially correct," replied Mr. Johnson.

"Do you know that there is provision under the State laws for this tax revision every ten years?"

Johnson: "No. I know that there is a chance given every ten years for men of large property to see that they are on the duplicate unduly low, while the small property holder, with little at stake, cannot afford to go to the same expense."

Hopkins: "This is regulated by law, and the laws on our statute books are the policy of the State, are they not?"

Johnson: "No, not necessarily. There are things which state in which are not the policy of the State, but the policy of the paid lobbyists who secure the passage of iniquitous laws for the benefit of cliques and classes."

Hopkins: "You deny, then, that the policy of the State is defined by its laws?"

Johnson: "In some instances, yes."

Hopkins: "How would you determine the policy of the State?"

Johnson: "The best way to find the policy of the State is to take the opinion of the people on the subjects of importance to the people. It is the unwritten law of public opinion which will rid the statute books of bad laws and place good laws in their places."

Hopkins: "You deny that when the representatives of the people make laws they are the policy of the State?"

Johnson: "I will give you a simple example, the code bill. Long continued groans and howls. This was passed in a session of a Legislature which had been elected by the people when it was not dreamed that such a bill would be necessary. The bill passed by these Legislators was in no way representative of the wishes of the people. It was forced through by the influence of party leaders, in direct opposition to the wishes of the people of both parties. Instead of being the policy of the people of the State it represented the policy of Boss Cox and Senator Hanna, one of whom had it passed to perpetuate his political machine, and the other primarily to help along his street railroad." (Loud applause.)

There was considerable additional discussion along this line before Mr. Hopkins was allowed to revert to the tax question, which had brought it about.

Hopkins: "Though you deny that the laws are the policy of the State you will at least admit that property is valued every ten years?"

Johnson: "Yes."

Hopkins: "Then it ought to be all valued at the average valuation?"

Johnson: "It is unfair to tax some property at 60 per cent and other property at 20 per cent. The best way is to keep the assessors to their oaths and live up to the constitution of the State."

Stomach Troubles cured by Kodol

Under all curable conditions

Mr. D. Kauble of Nevada, O., was cured by Kodol of stomach trouble which had effected his heart.

Mr. W. W. Layler of Hilliard, Pa., was cured of Chronic Dyspepsia by the use of Kodol.

KODOL Digests What You Eat

In unmeasured terms the action of Senator Foraker in lobbying for it. He had also criticised Mr. Hanna.

"Mr. Hopkins was a member of the opposition wing of the party," said Mr. Johnson, "and what he said was the whole truth." Mr. Hopkins acknowledged that he had opposed the act, but said that that was no reason why the contract should be broken at this time.

On the question of home rule Mr. Hopkins made the sweeping statement that the Cuyahoga members had done nothing to secure referendum legislation. It was at this juncture that Mr. Stange arose excitedly in the audience and specifically denied the charge, quoting a number of pieces of legislation of this nature which had been introduced by Democrats, and which, he said, "had been defeated by Republican votes."

This ended the debate, for before there could be any more discussion the crowd broke into a wild cheer for Stange and dispersed. The debate had lasted from 8:30 o'clock till nearly midnight.

USEFUL TALKS

Before the Camera Club by Leading Members Thereof.

The Akron Camera club held its regular meeting at the club parlors Tuesday evening. The demonstration of the process of development was in charge of Geo. F. Kunz, J. Dwight Palmer and Chas. E. Smith.

Mr. Kunz showed how to handle a plate properly exposed and used a normal developer. Mr. C. E. Smith illustrated his method of treatment for an under exposed plate. He started development in a very dilute developer containing a larger proportion of alkali than of the developing agent. After coaxing out sufficient detail by this treatment the plate was finished in a normal developer to give it the requisite density.

Mr. J. D. Palmer had the subject of over exposure, and illustrated it as follows: Taking a comparatively thin negative he placed it in a printing frame and put a dry plate on top of it and made a contact exposure by an incandescent light. The normal exposure for a normal developer would probably have been about one-half second. Mr. Palmer gave it about 10 seconds. He then covered half the negative and exposed the other half ten seconds more.

The developer was prepared by mixing about one-quarter the normal quantity of alkali with twice the usual amount of the developing agent, which in this case was pyro. To this was added about a teaspoonful of ten per cent solution of bromide of potassium.

The development showed that the half of the negative which received ten seconds exposure was just right for the developer used while the other half was greatly over-exposed. The entire plate would have been over exposed had a normal developer been used.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 11, and the subject of photographic optics will be handled by Prof. C. M. Knight. He will illustrate his talk with experiments with the optical lantern.

Now or Never! Saturday, November 1

Positively the last day of the A. B. Smith Great clearing out sale of Pianos and Organs from outside agencies.

They Must Be Sold.

No reasonable offer refused. Easy payments if desired.

The pianos and organs that I have left, that were returned from my agents, must be sold, and I am going to sell them by Saturday night if I have to—well, I was going to say, split 'em in two; but I'll take that gack; however, just come and see.

I am going to offer until Saturday night some of the greatest bargains in pianos and organs ever offered in Akron. You certainly can not afford to be without a piano when you can buy the very best that are slightly shopworn for less than wholesale price.

Come and see what I have to offer, and I know that you will be convinced that I am doing just what I advertise.

TERMS—$10 to $25 cash, and $5 to $10 a month on pianos; $5 cash and $2 to $4 a month on organs; or terms can be had to suit you.

I only have a few pianos left to sell; so if you are interested, call at once, as Saturday, Nov. 1st, is positively the last day, whether it rains or not.

SQUIRES

Found Guilty of Robbery.

And the Coy Case Is Now on Trial.

It took the jury only about 20 minutes to agree upon a verdict in the case of the State vs. Henry Squires, accused of robbing Franz Breckner, of Ellis' Corners, while he was driving into Akron. The jury found him guilty. The case was tried in court room No. 2, with Judge Hayden on the bench. Squires was among the seven prisoners who escaped from the county jail on the evening of the 27th of September.

COY ON TRIAL.

The next criminal case taken up is that of the State vs. Joseph Coy, accused of criminal assault upon his mother. Their home is at Cuyahoga Falls. The trial will probably not be completed before noon Thursday.

DIVORCE MATTERS.

Ella Rothig, of Cuyahoga Falls, has applied for divorce from Edward Rothig. They were married in 1883. She accuses him of cruelty and habitual drunkenness. One of the charges against him is that on Oct. 27, 1902, he procured a shotgun and flourished it around in the presence of the plaintiff so persistently and threateningly that she feared he meant to take her life. The plaintiff mentions several instances of assault. She also asks that her husband be restrained from putting certain property out of her hands.

Another new divorce case is that of Florence A. Gayle vs. Gordon F. Gayle. They were married Feb. 19, 1902, and her application for divorce is based upon the alleged grounds of neglect and cruelty. She also asks for alimony.

TO COLLECT INSURANCE.

Mrs. Ella Clarkson, of Cuyahoga Falls, has started a suit against the Great Eastern Casualty & Indemnity Co., of New York, to collect $500 claimed as insurance upon the life of her husband, W. L. Clarkson, who died in June, 1902, as the result of injuries received in a runaway accident.

FORECLOSURE PROCEEDINGS.

The Home Building & Loan Co. has sued Barney McDermott, et al., to foreclose a mortgage amounting to $1,444.48.

INFIRMARY ADDITION.

Bids for the contract to build a hospital addition to the County Infirmary were opened at noon Wednesday by the County Commissioners. No action has yet been taken on them.

STOLE SAUERKRAUT.

Sheriff Kelly has received word from a constable at London, O., that a man arrested there for stealing a jar of sauerkraut has in his possession a horse and buggy for which he cannot give a good account. Summit county officers are not looking for any horse thieves at present.

Grave's Black Root Liver Pills.

Made from an active principle obtained from Black Root. They act on the liver equal to calomel and leave no bad after-effects. No gripping, no sick stomach. Will cure chronic constipation. Price 3 cents.

BEGINNERS' CLASS.

We open another one Friday evening, Oct. 31st. W. A. Barron, Abbey Block.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and making people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after curing four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. For sale by all druggists.

PERSONAL NOTES.

The Luther League of Trinity Lutheran church held a social at the home of Mrs. A. W. Krause on South Main st., Tuesday evening.

Mr. Frank Falk, of Akron, who was employed in the O. A. & C. office at Mt. Vernon, has resigned to take a position with another road at Columbus. He is a brother of Mrs. G. Edward Wagener.

A social was given by the men of Fourth Church of Christ Tuesday evening to the ladies of the church. About 100 attended. There was a musical and literary program given wholly by the men and the refreshments were also served by the men.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Miss Maude Tucker and Mr. Leonard B. Herrick, of Cleveland. Miss Tucker was a member of the '90 class at Buchtel and a member of the Delta Gamma fraternity.

At the meeting of the Searchlight club at the residence of Mrs. Jessie Frasse Monday evening, Miss Ella Santon read a paper on "The Thirteen Original States" and Miss Ula Koplin spoke on "The Life of Ruth Ashmore." Refreshments were served.

The quarterly parish meeting and social of the Universalist church will be held in the Sunday school rooms Thursday evening. The Young People's Christian Union has provided a pleasing program. Miss Leonora Martin will sing. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. C. M. Knight, Mrs. E. F. Voris, Judge and Mrs. U. L. Marvin, Miss Sarah C. Hart, Mrs. J. W. Rabe, Mrs. S. W. Parrish, Mrs. Ella Allen, Mrs. Miner Allen, Mrs. Jessie Allen and Mrs. R. L. Ganter, of Akron, were among the guests at a reception given by the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, at the Colonial in Cleveland Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Houser gave a dancing party to 100 of their friends at their home on East Market st. Monday evening. The party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Mason, of London, England, Miss Mason and Miss Porter, of Cincinnati. Mrs. Mason is a sister of Mrs. Houser and a daughter of Hon. George W. Crouse.

Mr. James M. Huddleston and Miss Carrie L. Holloway were married Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Mr. John W. Holloway, at 109 South Prospect st. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Huddleston, of Malvern, father of the bridegroom. Miss Grace Findley, of Cleveland, played the wedding march. Mr. Huddleston is a clerk in the Werner office. The couple left on a wedding trip in the East, Tuesday evening. Friends were at the depot to see them off and there was the usual quantity of rice, ribbons and old shoes.
